DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bouillet et al., U.S. Pat. No. 6,275,554 in view of Kim et al., U.S. Pat No. 5,508,752.

Considering claim 6, the digital demodulator comprising,

a) a circuit for outputting the subtraction input value obtained in step (a) only for the data coinciding with the code pattern of segment synchronous signal, is met by reference pattern 330 and correlator 320, fig.3;

b) a circuit for outputting said subtraction input value obtained in step (b) as a clock phase error signal only for the data positioned at the segment synchronous signal is met by segment syncn generator 328, phase detector 310, APC LPF 334, and VCXO 336, Fig.3;

Except for;

a) a subtracting circuit for subtracting the N-th input from the N+1th input of all reception data;

Art Unit: 2614

Regarding a), Bouillet et al does not specifically disclose step (a). However, it is well known in the art to utilize a delay circuit to subtract or get rid of a noise signal, etc. Kim et al. discloses partial response trellis decoder for high definition television (HDTV) system. Kim et al discloses comb filter 38 comprising a delay 38b for delaying the signal and used for rejecting NTSC interference. Therefore, it would have been obvious to the skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the system of Bouillet et al. by providing the circuit 38 so that the noise is filtered better from the input signal.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 2,3,5,8, and 11 are allowed.
5. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art fails to disclose a digital broadcast demodulator comprising a synchronous code pattern detecting circuit for detecting the segment synchronous code pattern from the most significant bit signal of the reception packet data, a symbol number counter for counting the number of symbol data in the reception packet data, a synchronous detection circuit for judging the true segment synchronous code pattern by obtaining the segment synchronous code pattern from said synchronous code pattern detecting circuit when said symbol number counter finishes counting of a specified number, and a synchronism detection protection counter for detecting and establishing the segment synchronous signal in the reception data from the output of said synchronous code pattern detecting circuit and count-up of specified number of said symbol number counter, as in claim 2.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
